

Suspicious Activity Reporting (SAR) Fire and EMS Training

The National SAR Initiative (NSI) is a national multifaceted approach designed to increase the effectiveness of state, local, tribal, and territorial law enforcement and public safety professionals and other frontline partners in identifying, reporting, evaluating, and sharing pre-incident terrorism indicators to prevent acts of terrorism. Through the website below this initiative provides several different online training sessions. One of these is for Fire and EMS personnel. MIEMSS recommends that all Fire/EMS personnel complete this session, it takes under 30 minutes to complete.

For the online training, go to: https://nsi.ncirc.gov/training_online.aspx

The Suspicious Activity Reporting (SAR) Fire and Emergency Medical Services Training was developed to assist fire and emergency medical service personnel in recognizing what kinds of suspicious behaviors are associated with pre-incident terrorism activities, understanding how and where to report suspicious activity, and protecting privacy, civil rights, and civil liberties when documenting information. This training also provides information about integrating the Nationwide SAR Initiative (NSI) into your organization's operations.
