Overview

Prior to closing or posting reports, Finish Incident Settings can require a minimum validation score and the completion of certain fields. Finish Incident Functionality is also useful for workflows, for example, finishing an incident can update the report's status and move the incident into your CQI workflow.

After turning on Finish Incident Functionality, and based on the settings, users mark reports as Finished through the Menu or by closing the incident. In Elite Field, incidents are also marked Finished through the Menu or automatically on post. As mentioned above, if setup, until reports have the minimum validation and satisfied all the closed call validation rules, users cannot mark the reports Finished. Once Finished, based on the settings, reports may lock and update their status, preventing further edits from your users.

The instructions below explain each setting and the effects on the user's experience in Elite and Elite Field. Additionally, once Finished settings are on, there are options for viewing Finished information on incident lists, report layouts, CQI and audit tracking.

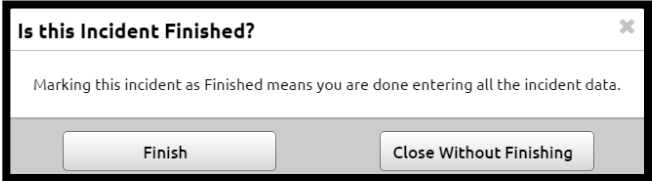

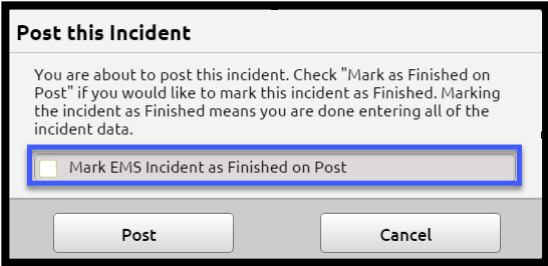

Finish Incident Settings was previously known as Mark Run as Completed.
